Named Architect of Change by Maria Shriver for her work reuniting families

PUBLIC SPEAKER, FILMMAKER & CHANGE MAKER

Ginger Gentile is on a mission to save children from the trauma of highconflict divorce. Drawing on her journey as a child torn between two parents and her documentary films she has become an in-demand consultant and public speaker. With humor she takes audiences on a journey to understand the pain of families stuck in an unjust family court system and how we can all play a part in preventing this silent public health crisis.

Her first film on this topic, ERASING DAD, was filmed in Argentina and resulted in joint-custody legislation being enacted. ERASING FAMILY, currently streaming on all major platforms, exposes the trauma children suffer when a loving parent is erased from their lives, a problem that affects 22 million families in the US alone. For this film she crowdfunded nearly half a million dollars and created a network of parents who went from victims to activists. Ginger served as the executive director of the National Parents Organization, which is dedicated to making shared parenting the norm.

WHAT OTHERS ARE SAYING

"Ginger Gentile's talks and documentaries are a tour-de-force. She has made enormous contributions to increasing the public's awareness of the trauma and tragedy of families impacted by parental alienation."

-Joshua Coleman, Ph.D. Senior Fellow Council on Contemporary Families, Author RULES OF ESTRANGEMENT

"Ginger makes a tough topic entertaining for the audience. A born storyteller, Ginger guides victims, academics and activists into new ways to turn stats and personal stories into an engaging narrative."

-Emma Johnson, Author WEALTHY SINGLE MOMMY, Founder of MOMS FOR SHARED PARENTING
